ABSTRACT

Information (current as of January 1981) is provided on over 800 corporate programs to match employee gifts to education institutions. In the central listing, the following information is given on each program: the name of the corporate donor and its program name: the year established: existence of other aid programs: the eligibility of the employee (current employee level, possible alumni requirement): eligibility of beneficiary institutions (location, control, and level requirements): accreditation requirements: gifts to separate foundations, state associations, national associations, and noneducational institutions: minimum and maximum gifts: restrictions placed on gift use: donating procedure: distribution (annual, continuous, semi-annual, quarterly, monthly): availability of employee alumni lists: an individual contact person or office: and special terms of gifts. Appended lists include: companies matching on a greater than one-to-one basis (with ratios): a geographical company listing: parent companies listed with gift-matching divisions and subsidiaries: and an alphabetical listing of gift-matching subsidiaries, showing the parent companies. AMERICA'S ENERGY IS MINDPOWER

CASE as the public affairs arm of higher education launches this year a national communications campaign on behalf of higher education and the independent schools, commencing with National Support Higher Education Day, July 16th in Washington, DC. College campuses observe Mindpower Week in October, and the theme is used throughout 1981 and 1982 for public information and fund raising campaigns. Among the fund raising projects will be a focus on the Matching Gifts source for support of higher education and the independent secondary schools.

Council for Advancement and Support of Education
